In developing this policy the University had regard to the provisions of section 40B(1)(b) of the Human Rights Act 2004 (ACT).

PURPOSE:

1. The University of Canberra (University) is committed to providing a range of flexible working options aimed at assisting Employees to meet family and personal obligations and to support a healthy work-life balance.
2. This Policy outlines some of the University's flexible work offerings and how Employees can access them. It covers:
  - 2.1. Hybrid Working (for eligible professional Employees);
  - 2.2. Academic Flexibility (for academic Employees);
  - 2.3. Flexible Work Arrangements; and
  - 2.4. Flexible Work Benefits:
  - 2.5. Purchased leave;
  - 2.6. Ad hoc arrangements; and
  - 2.7. Flextime.

SCOPE:

This Policy applies to all University Employees.

PRINCIPLE:

1. As part of the University's commitment to a flexible workforce, professional Employees, including those working part-time, can request access to hybrid working.
2. All academic Employees can access academic flexibility in accordance with the Academic Availability clause of the University of Canberra Enterprise Agreement.

3. All Employees can formally apply for a Flexible Work Arrangement, which is an agreement between that Employee and the University for a change to their working arrangements.
4. Eligible Employees can also apply to access the University's Flexible Work Benefits such as purchased leave, Ad hoc arrangements and flextime.
5. The University encourages Employees and their Managers to adopt informal flexible work practices within their team, balancing busy periods with quiet periods and remaining flexible while ensuring the University's operational needs are met.

Hybrid working

1. The University supports access to Hybrid Working flexible working for professional Employees. Conditions for hybrid working are provided by the Hybrid Working Procedure. Requests for access to Hybrid Working arrangements must be made in accordance with the Hybrid Working Procedure.Academic Flexibility
2. The University supports access to flexible working arrangements for academic Employees, conditions of which are provided through the Academic Availability clause of the University of Canberra Enterprise Agreement.
3. Academic Employees are not required to apply to access these already established working conditions; however such arrangements must be discussed with the Employee's Manager to ensure:
  - 3.1. campus-based responsibilities are appropriately balanced with home/other location work arrangements;
  - 3.2. appropriate contact and availability arrangements are in place; and
  - 3.3. an understanding of Work Health and Safety requirements and responsibilities including ergonomic self-assessment, that must be undertaken for a working environment away from campus.

Flexible work arrangements

1. The following are examples of Flexible Work Arrangements that Employees can request:
  - 1.1. a change to the pattern of working hours;
  - 1.2. a change to the hours of work (eg part-time hours);
  - 1.3. job share arrangements; and
  - 1.4. career breaks.
2. The list of options above is not exhaustive and all requests for flexible work will be considered in line with legislative requirements and in accordance with this Policy.
3. Employees requesting Flexible Work Arrangements must submit a written request to their Manager that clearly outlines the following:
  - 3.1. details of the change sought;
  - 3.2. the reasons for the change;
  - 3.3. the duration the change will be effective;
  - 3.4. the potential effect on the operation of their workplace;
  - 3.5. the potential effect on colleagues; and
  - 3.6. how the duties and responsibilities of their role will be achieved as a result of the change.
4. If possible, within 14 calendar days of receiving the request, the Employee and their Manager will meet to discuss the request. Managers will discuss the request with the Employee and genuinely try to reach an agreement about making changes to the Employee's working arrangements to accommodate the Employee's circumstances.

5. The Manager will respond to the Employee's flexible work request within 21 calendar days of receiving the request, either granting or refusing the request. Requests for Flexible Work Arrangements will be considered in accordance with governing legislation, the University of Canberra Enterprise Agreement, and relevant policies and procedures. The Manager should also consider the context of Employee needs, the provision of customer service and the operational requirements of the area.

Refusing a flexible work request

1. Requests for Flexible Work Arrangements will only be refused on Reasonable Business Grounds which are consistent with statutory guidelines and have regard to the consequences of the refusal for the Employee.
2. Managers considering declining a request, must contact their People and Diversity Business Partner for advice. Should the request be refused, the Manager will outline the decision in writing including the business grounds for refusing the request and how those grounds apply to the request. The Manager will also outline consideration given to any alterations they would be willing to accommodate to the request, where applicable.
3. In the event the request is refused, and an appropriate alternative approach cannot be agreed, the Employee may access the grievance resolution procedure outlined in Schedule 5 of the University of Canberra Enterprise Agreement.

Granting a flexible work request

1. If the Employee and their Manager agree to Flexible Work Arrangements, the agreement will be documented, attached to the Employee's Performance and Development Plan, and a copy placed on the Employee's personnel file.
2. The agreement will normally contain a 12 monthly review to ensure that the arrangements remain consistent with the Employee's requirements, and/or the operational requirements of the University.
3. People and Diversity will assist the Manager and Employee to determine whether the arrangements require a written understanding, or an Individual Flexibility Agreement (IFA) (see Definitions section below).

Flexible work benefits

Part of the University's suite of Flexible Work Benefits includes the option for staff to purchase additional recreation leave, ad hoc arrangements and flextime.

Purchased leave

1. Employees may purchase up to eight (8) weeks of additional recreation leave if they have used all their available recreation and long service leave entitlements. The Leave Guidelines provide detail on the application and process to purchase leave.
2. Purchased leave will count as service for all purposes and Employees must use their purchased leave before accessing their accrued recreation leave.

Ad hoc arrangements

1. The University recognises that infrequent and Ad hoc arrangements may be agreed between an Employee and their Manager at any time, subject to operational requirements.
2. Ad hoc arrangements will be approved on a case-by-case basis by the Manager.

Flextime

1. Professional Employees from UC1 to UC7 may access flextime in accordance with the University of Canberra Enterprise Agreement and the Flextime, Overtime and Time Off In Lieu Guidelines associated with this Policy.
2. Employees need to apply in writing to access flextime and have their application approved by their Manager before they can accrue flextime.

Flexible working examples

Annexure A to this Policy contains some examples of flexible working arrangements that may occur at the University. These examples are not intended to be exhaustive, rather to give an indication of how some of the benefits outlined in this Policy may be put into practice.
